Gun Falls on Floor; Ottawa Man Wounded

Frank Sweger, who lives at the Rickerd home at 118 East Washington street, Ottawa, was accidentally shot, Wednesday night when a revolver which he was carrying fell out of the holster.

Sweger was sitting in a rocking chair in the living room of the Rickerd home visiting with Mrs. Rickerd and a lady friend. Evidently the revolver which was a .45 calibre and had not been placed securely in the holster and when Sweger moved it worked its way out and fell, striking the side of the rocker. The bolt in falling caused the revolver to go off, lodging a bullet in Sweger's arm pit.

CORONER PROBES DEATH OF WIFE OF LEO HUGGINS

Declare She Drank Beer and Was Found Unconscious.

The St. Louis coroner's office began an investigation Wednesday of the facts surrounding the death of Mrs. Leo Huggins, the 20-year-old wife of Leo Huggins, former Dixon boy, who died at a St. Louis hospital, Wednesday after she was found unconscious in a hotel where she and her husband had been living.

According to word from St. Louis, Leo and his wife went to Christopher, Ill., a short distance from St. Louis, on Tuesday for a visit with her parents. It was on their return trip that she drank some beer and later became ill. She was found unconscious at the hotel where they lived and was rushed to a hospital where she died a short time later.

Leo is well known here. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Huggins of Davenport, the family moving from Dixon to Sterling and then to the Iowa city several years ago. He won the featherweight championship as a boxer with the Army of Occupation, and upon his return to this country appeared in Sterling upon two boxing cards. He also appeared at Davenport and elsewhere.

His mother received a message from him Wednesday, telling of the death of his wife and she left immediately for St. Louis.

To Mrs. Wilson Dysart went the honors of the Dixon team's play, for she had a score of 2 down at the conclusion of the match.

Today's Market Report

Favorable Weather Gives Corn Prices Further Loss Today

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Chicago, Aug. 22.—Corn met with a rush of selling and underwent a decided new setback in price today during the early dealings. Warm weather was the principal bearish factor. Owing to the higher temperature crop reports were of considerably more hopeful tenor than has been the rule of late. Opening prices, which varied from unchanged figures to a drop of 2¢ with Dec. 1.10½ to 1.11, were followed by a good rally, but then by downturns all around to well below the initial range.

Wheat weakened as a result of sympathy with corn. At first, however, export buying gave wheat a temporary brisk upturn. After opening at 3¢ off to 3½ up, Sept. 1.26½ to 1.26¾ and Dec. 1.31½ to 1.31¾, the wheat market showed material gains, and then a fractional general loss.

Oats as well as wheat were governed largely by corn. Starting at 4½ to 4¾ decline, Dec. 54¢ to 54½¢, oats rallied to a moderate extent, but soon receded in a pronounced manner.

Provisions were responsive to corn weakness, notwithstanding that hogs were firm.

At today's bottom level, corn was 9¢ to 11¢ under Monday's top price. None of the rallies which were witnessed proved to be of a lasting character. The close was nervous, at 1¾ to 3¾ net decline; Dec. 1.08½ to 1¾.

Subsequent bulges in price led to free selling of wheat and to subsequent fresh downturns. The close was unsettled, ¾ to 1¾ net lower; Sept. 1.25½ to 1.25½ and Dec. 1.30½ to 1.30½.

Illinois River is Fast Reaching Its High Water Mark

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Peoria, Ill., Aug. 21.—The Illinois and still rising, rapidly, after a rise River at a stage of 20.6 feet today and still rising, rapidly, after a rise of more than two feet in 24 hours is forecast to reach the dangerous stage of 22 feet here by Sunday. Floods emptied into the river by the Mackinaw and Spoon Rivers at a point below here may back up and push the crest higher, at the same time presenting a menace to downstream points. The highest stage on record here was that of 23.8 feet in 1922 when scores of levees gave way. Hundreds of residents of summer resort cottages along the stream have moved out.

Rail and hard road traffic is seriously handicapped to all points north and east but rapid progress is being made in clearing the wreckage which is the worst in memory.

BACK FROM WISCONSIN.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Atkins of Lincoln Way have returned from a vacation trip into Wisconsin, during most of which time they visited their son, James, at Waupon, Wis. While in that city they had an opportunity to visit the state penitentiary and also found occasion to drive to Fox City, where they got personal knowledge of the storm and flood which caused great damage in the city and surrounding country, as told of in Associated Press leased wire news to The Dixon Evening Telegraph.

Mr. Atkins, who will return tomorrow to his duties as carrier on one of the city routes out of the Dixon post office, said today that crop conditions in Wisconsin are even worse than in this state. He said he saw corn in lowlands that was not yet knee-high and other conditions indicated similar status for small grains.

SISTER Mary's KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY.

A Daily Menu for the Stout and Thin

EAT AND—LOSE WEIGHT.

Breakfast—One-half cup apple sauce, 2 pieces unbuttered gluten toast, 1 cup hot skimmed milk.

Luncheon—One cup clam bouillon with 1 poached egg, 4 toasted bread sticks, ½ cup combination vegetable salad, 1 fresh plum.

Dinner—Three ounces broiled porterhouse steak, 3 tablespoons steamed cauliflower, 1 ounce escarole with 1 tablespoon lemon juice, ½ thin slice whole wheat bread.

Bedtime—One cup skimmed milk. Total calories, 1116. Protein, 29.2; fat, 255; carbohydrate, 569. Iron, .0201 gram.

If you are beginning to diet to reduce, you may feel very weak and tired and perfectly miserable and generally blue the first day or two. If this is the case and you are the mother of demanding youngsters, you will be wise not to be so radical. Above all, don't try to "do" without breakfast or think you can brace yourself up on coffee. This breakfast of apple sauce, toast and milk is nourishing and hearty.

You will find that as you eat less food and learn to go along without butter and sugar and cream you will feel better and need less food. Your stomach will slowly shrink to normal and that empty, gnawing feeling will go away.

The persons who inherits a tendency toward stoutness must watch her diet closely if she would control the "tendency." It can be done, however, and comfortably, too.

GAIN WEIGHT.

Breakfast—One-half cup apple sauce, 1 slice salt pork in ¼ cup cream sauce on whole wheat toast, 2 cornmeal muffins, 1 tablespoon rye bread, 1 hot water.

Midmorning lunch—One cup cocoa, "salties."

Luncheon—One cup clam bouillon with 1 poached egg, 4 toasted bread sticks, 1 tablespoon butter, ½ cup combination vegetable salad with two tablespoons mayonnaise, 2 slices rye bread, 2 heaping tablespoons peach tapioca with 2 tablespoons whipped cream.

Afternoon tea—One large glass fruit punch with 2 cheese and preserved ginger sandwiches.

Dinner—One cup cream of mushroom soup, 3 ounces broiled porterhouse steak, 4 tablespoons French fried potatoes, 2 tablespoons steamed cauliflower in 2 tablespoons cream sauce, 1 ounce escarole with 2 tablespoons French dressing, ½ cantaloupe filled with mixed fruits, 2 hard rolls, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 tablespoon pre-serves.

At noon a bountiful dinner was served on the lawn cafeteria style, after which the afternoon was pleasantly spent in visiting and late in the afternoon ice cream and cake were served. Several pictures were taken of those present. All the living children of Mr. and Mrs. Strauss were present to help them celebrate. They are as follows: the daughters, Mrs. V. G. McDougall of Dixon and Mrs. Frank Brown of Des Moines, Iowa; the sons, A. J. of Fulton, Ind.; D. F. of Walnut, J. E. of Tampe; W. E. of Walnut, L. E. of Earlville; A. E. of Chicago, and R. E. of Jackson, Mich. Thirty-three grandchildren and eight great grandchildren were among those present. A fine time was enjoyed and talk of making the affair an annual event was started.

SUNDAY.

He has preached 22,000 sermons—Canon Hay Aitken, England's greatest revivalist. Aged, but in good health, so he may pass John Wesley's record of 27,000 sermons.

Vicar Aitken's observation is that church-going habits have been broken down by the invention of the bicycle and auto. He overlooks golf. "Every new benefit which science has conferred upon us has been used to take men away from the churches."

An exception is radio, which has created an invisible church audience numbering into the millions.

THE COOLIDGE "MYTH."

It is a pitiable plight in which politicians have found themselves when they bemoan the fact that the people have too great confidence in their president.

There is evidence now of concerted action on the part of opponents to spread the word that there is no such person as the public visualizes as president; that the people have conjured up for themselves a myth, which they believe to be occupying the White House.

In other words, Calvin Coolidge is too good to be true.

When the nation mourned President Harding, because it had loved him, it said, "Thank God for Cal Coolidge," because it had confidence in him. There was an air of assurance, safety and confidence that pervaded all public utterances and general publicity.

Nothing has happened to change the situation. Coolidge has served a year as chief magistrate and has worked consistently to reduce the burden of taxation, with results with which the public is familiar. There is no myth about that. There is no myth about figures, about money paid in taxes and expended by the government. They are very much realities.

The action in concert will go as it has been intended to go on, to carry across the country into the west the story that there is no such person as Coolidge is advertised to be, that he is over-advertised.

There is this record that this propaganda will have to meet and to overcome if it makes headway:

City councilman, 1899; city solicitor, 1900; state representative, 1906 and re-elected; mayor, 1909 and re-elected; state senator, 1911, re-elected in 1912, re-elected in 1913 and chosen president of the senate, re-elected in 1914 and re-elected president of the senate; lieutenant governor, 1915, and re-elected; governor, 1919 and re-elected; vice president, 1920; president, August 3, 1923.

That is nineteen years of public service and no defeats. It appears that elections for the legislature come annually in Massachusetts, his reelections to the senate being every year instead of for a four-year period as in Illinois. The issue of Coolidge efficiency constantly was before the people of Massachusetts, from 1899 to 1919, and he never lost a battle. His last majority, when he was re-elected governor after the Boston police strike, was the largest one.

The simple story, one of fact and not of mythology, is that Calvin Coolidge has measured up to the height of every responsibility that has been given him.

George Harvey likens him to James Madison. He quotes what Sydney Howard Gay, biographer, said of Madison:

"His arguments were often, if not always, prepared with care. If there was no play of fancy, there was no forgetfulness of facts. If there was lack of imagination, there was none of historical illustration, when the subject admitted it. If manner was forgotten, method was not. His aim was to prove and to hold fast; to make the wrong clear and to put the right in its place; to appeal to reason, not to passion nor to prejudice; to try his cause by the light of clear logic, hard facts and sound learning; to convince his hearers of the truth, as he believed in it, not to take their judgment captive by surprise with harmonious modulation and grace of movement."

"A better portrayal of Coolidge than this of Madison might be attempted, but assuredly none has yet been made," says Harvey.

ANIMAL.

The theory of evolution, by allying men with the animals, has during and since the war led large numbers of men to interpret life in animal terms, to turn their back on the spiritual interpretation of life which Christianity offers. So claims Canon Hay Aitken, England's leading revivalist.

He is a bit unfair to the animals. They are entirely natural. Man's wickedness is without exception the result of evading or short-circuiting natural processes.

Radio Corporation announces an 85 per cent gain in its sales of receiving sets, compared with a year ago, figures covering first six months of two years.

The situation as regards sales of parts is difficult to estimate. Homemade sets reflect youthful buying. Radio industry now is in its second sales movement—complete sets for the old and conservative who have been sitting back "waiting for the thing to get perfected so I won't have to tinker with it."

I am not one of those who believe votes are to be won by misrepresentation, skillful presentations of half-truths, and plausible deductions from false premises.—Calvin Coolidge.

NO. 17—MISTER BEAR'S NEW RADIO

Santa Claus had a radio which he gave them.

"Tell me some more news," said Mister Polar Bear to Weeny, the circus elephant.

Weeny and the Twins had come to see Pete Polar Bear, and they did wish that Pete would hurry back with his errand at the fish store, and that Mister Bear wouldn't ask too many questions.

Still—they had to be polite, so Weeny answered, "I don't think there is much more news, Mister Bear."

"Tut! Tut! I know better," said Mister Bear. "Wasn't there a storm somewhere?"

"Why, yes," admitted Weeny. "There was a very bad storm on Lake Something-or-other, and it blew the whole town of What-ever-it-was clear away."

"There, I knew it!" declared Miss Polar Bear, delightedly. "And wasn't there a fire anywhere?"

"Why, yes," said Weeny. "There was a very bad fire in the I-forget-what-forest and it burned a thousand miles of trees down."

"Well, well, well!" said Mister Bear. "That is news indeed! And wasn't there an airplane going somewhere?"

"Why, yes," said Weeny. "Some men from—oh, goodness! I never can remember the name of the place, flew to—I forgot the name of the other place, too!"

"Now; that's what I call exciting," beamed Mister Bear. "If there is anything I like, it is news. I live so far away from everybody I never know a thing. This newspaper I am reading is ten years old and it's all worn out."

"Why don't you get a radio?" asked Nick.

"A radio what?" asked Mister Bear. "What's that?"

"Why, it's a machine you put on your table, and it talks to you," said Nancy. "It tells you all the news and sings to you and plays to you, and tells you bedtime stories."

"Bedtime stories!" laughed Mister Bear. "Why, up here where we live we only go to bed once a year and we stay there six months. One bedtime story a year would do. But if it tells the news, I'd like to have one. How do you get one?"

Uses Phonograph to Teach Canaries to Copy Nightingales

Bremenhaven, Germany, Aug. 21.—By use of phonograph records, canary birds have been taught to sing like nightingales. August Mummler of Bremenhaven who raises canaries as a pastime, began to drum the song of nightingale into the ears of the little birds almost the minute they are hatched by keeping a record running all day long and often half the night.

When the little singers are six or eight weeks old, Mummler places them in a cage near real nightingales and they are not permitted to hear the singing of any other birds. Eventually when the canaries begin to sing they quite naturally follow the notes they have always heard and, as Mummler says, feel as if they were sure enough nightingales themselves."

A canary nightingale singer is worth five times that of an ordinary singer among bird fanciers.

BROOKLYN MAKES SENSATIONAL BID FOR BIG PENNANT

"Uncle Robbie's" Men Are Showing Class in Effort to Get Lead.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
New York, Aug. 22.—The Brooklyn Robins, recent sensation of the National League, are making their pennant bid with a team composed largely of cast-offs and makeshift material.

Plugging a glaring infield weakness by obtaining Milton Stock, third sacker from the St. Louis Cardinals, Uncle Robbie gradually filled other holes, shifted his line up and whipped his pitching staff into shape. Fournier, first baseman, who is among the league's five batting leaders, is another ex-Cardinal who gained a new lease on life with the Robins.

Dazzy Vance, whose record of nine straight victories has clinched his place as the year's pitching king, was a New York Yankee cast-off and came back to his present brilliant achievements only after a struggle against heavy odds.

Brooklyn's third straight victory over the Pirates the other day was turned in by Bill Doak, also discarded by the St. Louis club.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Giants continue their dizzy pace and today lead the league five and one-half games in advance of the Pirates in second place and seven games ahead of the fast moving Dodgers who are third. The slipping Cubs are in fourth position nine games behind the Giants.

McGraw annexed both ends of a double header in St. Louis, 8-4 and 12-1. Rogers Hornsby, leading batter of the league, made seven hits in seven times at bat, two of them homers. Hornsby got his seventeenth homer of the season off Bentley in the seventh inning of the first game and his eighteenth off Barnes in the second game.

Brooklyn took the first game of the series from the Cubs, 2-0. Erhardt, Dodger pitcher issued only four hits. Only two of the Cubs reached second and none third, Jack Fournier hit his 25th homer of the season.

The Braves staged a ninth inning rally to win the first game of their double header with Pittsburgh, 7-6, coming out of the cellar. Pittsburgh won the second game, 5-0.

Phillies in Train Wreck
Even a train wreck could not keep the Phillies from hitting the bottom. They went down to overwhelming defeat at the hands of the Reds, 11-0.

None of the players were injured in the wreck, but Pitchers Mitchell and Couch took a fine lambasting from the bats of the Cincinnati club.

The Senators cut the Yankees' lead in the American League to a game and a half by trimming the White Sox, 2-1, while the Yankees remained inactive. Detroit is 3 and one-half games behind the leaders and two games behind the Senators. St. Louis and Philadelphia split a doubleheader, the Browns landing the opener, 11-2 and losing the night cap, 5-4.

The Red Sox won a pitcher's battle from the Indians in ten innings when with the bases full in the tenth, Quinn's fly was lost in the sun by Summa, and the winning run scored. Boston went into sixth place while the White Sox dropped to seventh.

Today's game between the Yankees and Tigers starts a series which may do much to decide the outcome of the pennant race.

In addition to Hornsby's two homers, Kelly, Meusel and Southworth of the Giants hit for the circuit, during the bargain bill at St. Louis.

Hazen Cuyler, sensational outfielder of the Pirates, continued to star with the stick. The former bench warmer cracked out two hits in the first game with the Braves, one of the blows being a homer with two men on base. In the second contest, Cuyler got one hit and stole another base.

In the first game every player on the Brown's club collected one or more hits against the Athletics and scored a run, Robertson and Severud crossing the plate twice.

FOREIGNERS TO SEEK HONORS IN AMERICAN SPORT

Three International Affairs to Be Settled in Near Future.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
New York, Aug. 22.—Within the next three weeks, the United States faces the greatest international challenge for sports supremacy that it has ever had on its own soil within a similar period.

Karl Whitney has always appealed to Alice's romantic tendencies. He has been the hero around whom she has dramatized her own emotions, and she probably thought it would be a very dramatic episode to snatch him away from the other woman, even if that other woman was I.

"She's a very jealous woman, mother. She not only wants to stand first in Karl Whitney's eyes, but in yours and dad's as well as in the eyes of every other person she happens to like. The reason she is fond of England is because the English made much of her, and the reason she doesn't like America any more is because when she came back it was only to be one of a number of bright girls as clever and perhaps more beautiful than herself."

You see, Ruth, dear, I did not mean to be so unforiving; at least I did not mean to say all these things to mother, for after all, Alice is mother's daughter, but as I was speaking it came over me again how by writing that anonymous letter she had widened the misunderstanding between Jack and me. I was furious.

Mother made me promise at the last, after I had shown her the letter which Alice wrote, that I would not tell dad, as I had threatened.

"It is bad enough," she said, "for John to know what Alice has done."

"He may never know," I answered bitterly. "He hasn't answered your telegram, mother. I am not sure whether he will come or not. I've grown so sick and disgusted over that string of pearls that if it were not for giving them to Alice and letting her triumph over me, I would send them all back to her and be glad to get rid of them."

"Thank God she is married to Karl and I don't think she will worry about me any longer—at least she oughtn't to."

"Karl Whitney has always appealed to Alice's romantic tendencies. He has been the hero around whom she has dramatized her own emotions, and she probably thought it would be a very dramatic episode to snatch him away from the other woman, even if that other woman was I.

"But I'm not going to do it," I interrupted. "I do not see why I should be the one to make a sacrifice in this case to love while Jack pays votive offerings to his pride. Beside, mother, Jack has no reason for not believing anything."

I could have bitten my tongue out the moment I said this. Mother looked up in surprise, but she asked no questions. I was not sure, however, it was because she had no curiosity on the subject, or because the maid had handed her a telegram.

She opened it. Her face fell. "John wires it is impossible for him to come at this time."

Silently I left the room.

OVER 1,000 ACRES OF LAND FLOODED NEAR THOMSON

Johnson's creek near Thomson has overflowed its banks and the water has backed up over a thousand acres of land. An old lake bed of some 300 acres, which is usually dry, now contains several feet of water which backed in front of the creek. Thousands of watermelons can be seen floating on top of the water.

New York—All the "smart cracks" good night, the parrot, mournfully uttered by humans. Parrots and jealousy asks "You love Bobby?" have gone in for the new and lighter Indeed, the aged dealer does.

A friend relates many of the interesting quips of his bird.

When the bird is covered for the night, he invariably bawls out, "Good night, boys!"

"Do you like it?" is the question he asks as the family sits for meals—especially when there is company.

Two children were playing on a fire escape, overlooked from the parrot's cage. "Watch your step," was the admonition he shouted.

If the door bell rings the bird cries, "Come in. Who is it?"

He refuses to leave his cage on any pretext. The last time he was taken from the cage he was moved to Chicago. He didn't like the western city and fears a repetition of the journey. But every time the cage is placed under a shower bath, he flaps his wings and squawks "Atta boy!"

Purchase of Cut-Over Timber Land is Urged

Chicago—Purchase by federal and state governments of cut-over lands to be immediately replanted to trees was urged here by B. G. Dahlberg in an address before a convention of lumbermen.

"Eighty-one millions acres of land in the United States formerly heavily forested are now absolutely denude of trees," said Mr. Dahlberg. "If this cleared land has been used for agricultural purposes, the destruction of the forests would have been of less serious consequence. But not an acre of this naked land has been turned into farms. The total area denuded of forests in this country is 181,000,000 acres. Of this total, 100,000,000 acres are now in second growth timber in various degrees of development.

The rate of lumber depletion is increasing. For every 1,000 feet cut there is only 235 feet of current growth of reforestation. If this rate of destruction continues without reforestation, it is a simple process of arithmetic to figure out when all the timber resources of the nation will be exhausted.

"With our forests disappearing rapidly, the discovery of a process for man making synthetic lumber from the waste fibre of sugar cane is the nature of a boon to the world. This artificial lumber has not only the qualities of a forest product but unusual insulating and sound-deadening qualities. It has, moreover, an inexhaustable source of manufacture in the waste fibre of the annual crops of sugar cane. This fibre formerly was destroyed as useless, of no value.

A miracle of modern science is turning this worthless material into home for humanity."

INVERSE DUPLEX TO BE MADE BY 4 MANUFACTURERS

Strong Group Plans Mak- ing New Line of Cir- cuits for "Bugs."

Both the general public and the radio industry will learn with deep interest of the decision reached by a group of four important manufacturers to make and market sets using the inverse duplex principle on which the Grimes' patents are based.

Announcement is now authorized of the licensing of these four concerns for the new project. They include The Bristol Company, of Waterbury, Conn.; Sleeper Radio Company, of New York; Mercury Radio Company, of Little Falls, N. J.; and David Grimes, Inc., of Jersey City, N. J.

Naturally the choice of inverse duplex by these leading companies for their product directs attention to the principles and advantages of this system. The names of Sleeper, Mercury, and Grimes are well known in the radio world, and Bristol, in addition to its reputation in the new industry, has been engaged for 35 years in the manufacture of scientific recording instruments.

Sets will be manufactured using from four to seven stages of amplification, employing both radio and audio frequency, and by this method two of the tubes do double duty. The first two tubes are utilized for both radio and audio amplification, the signal first passing through them and being amplified at the original radio frequency, thence going through a detector. From there the audible signal is passed through the second tube, amplified and inverted to the first tube for further amplification. If telephone receivers are used the signal goes directly to them from the first tube. If a loud speaker is used it is conveyed to another tube for additional amplification. It will thus be seen, for example, that in a four tube set using this system four tubes do the work of six.

According to the research engineers and officials of the four associated companies, the reasons which led them to choose the inverse duplex system were tone quality, economy of operation, range, absence of reradiation, and small upkeep.

Tone quality was the first consideration, and they have demonstrated that the system insures natural tone quality. There is quality as well as volume of sound. The amplification is accurate and faithful, and without distortion.

Desirable economy results from using the tubes inversely, making them do double duty. Few sets have three steps of audio and get power volume, as sets under this system do. The range secured is that which only radio frequency can produce.

There is an entire absence of re-radiation and the annoyances which arise from it. The upkeep of the set is small, because fewer tubes are required in the first place and because the same results can be obtained as could be with two more tubes.

Radio fans throughout the country will be especially interested in the plans and progress of the four companies because their becoming associated to produce inverse duplex sets is another evidence that the radio industry is being stabilized, fly-by-night manufacturers eliminated, and reliable apparatus assured by the character of the concerns which manufacture it.

All this helps to spell service and satisfaction to the growing army of radio users everywhere.

IMPORTANT CHANGE IS MADE IN THE STATE SCHOOL LAW

Distributive Fund Is Based on Teacher's Training.

ance record of the pupils is the third consideration.

A school is allowed $2.50 a week for every teacher who is a graduate of a normal school and has had 20 years of experience as a teacher. For teachers who attended a normal school one year and who have had 10 years experience, $1 a week is allowed.

Fifty cents a week is allowed for every teacher who has had a half year in a normal school and five years of experience. Seventy cents a day is allowed for each day school is in session, and half a cent a day for each pupil who attends.

Twenty pupils present one day brings 10 cents of state money to a school, and every absent pupil cuts the rate half a cent for the day.

Poor districts, in which the assessed property is less than $40,000 in value, are given help by the state. Rural schools that have a teacher who is a graduate of a normal school and that continue school during the nine months of the year receive a bonus of $100.

Educators and school board members are wondering whether the $8,000,000 appropriated for state aid to schools will be enough to cover the appropriation to the schools that have made high records of attendance and whose teachers are former normal students.

The highest waterfalls in the world are the Kaieteur Falls, 741 feet, in British Guiana.

Senate Bill No. 229 enacted by the 53rd General Assembly, popularly known as the new distributive law, provides a new method of distributing $8,000,000 of Illinois school funds annually. There are five basis of distribution, one being the training and the elementary schools. A test case is now before the Supreme Court to determine whether or not the new law is valid.

This bill makes it the duty of the Illinois State Examining Board for Teachers to classify all of the elementary school teachers of the state according to training and experience and to make a report to the County Superintendent of Schools.

Heretofore the state fund has been distributed according to the school population of the districts. Next spring it will be distributed according to three provisions, graded according to the work done up to June 1 of the year just completed if the law is upheld.

The preparation of the teachers is the first provision, taking into account the teacher's study in normal school and experience in teaching. Next is the length of the school year in the district, and the attend-

Mormons Don't Think Illinois is "Garden"

By Associated Press Leased Wires
Nauvoo, Illinois, Aug. 22.—When the Mormons left Nauvoo 78 years ago, they may have regretted leaving the natural beauty of its surroundings; but today President Heber J. Grant of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints has declared "there is nothing in the story, so far as the Mormons of Utah are concerned, that we look upon Nauvoo as the Garden of Eden."

Commenting upon a story published in this state to that effect, President Grant recalled his last visit to Nauvoo.

"Nauvoo was a city of over 20,000 people at the time the Mormons were driven out," he wrote. "There are only a little over 1,000 people there now. A few months ago I had the privilege of visiting there. I was offered a home built by a former president of the church, John Taylor, for $300. It was originally a fine brick structure.

"It is little less than wonderful that Nauvoo, which many people with whom I have conversed, claim it is one of the finest, if not the finest location for a city on the Mississippi river, should have gone down, down, down from the day that the Mormons were driven away. There are no rail facilities there, and you reach it by traveling on a little tub of a steamer from Montrose. There were five in the party with me, and as there were only four seats on the deck of the steamer, one of us had to stand."

STERLING CENSUS SHOWS 8,865.

Members of the Sterling Gyro Club were greatly disappointed this week when, after completing a very careful census of the city, they found that the population was but 8,865, a growth of 843 since the government census of 1920, part of which increase was accounted for by the annexation of some territory to the city. The members of the club and other leading cities had expected the census to show a population of 10,000.

"Nauvoo was a city of over 20,000 people at the time the Mormons were driven out," he wrote. "There are only a little over 1,000 people there now. A few months ago I had the privilege of visiting there. I was offered a home built by a former president of the church, John Taylor, for $300. It was originally a fine brick structure.

BUREAU CO. HEAVY SUFFERER AS FLOOD SPREADS ON FARMS

Bridges Out and Nearly All Roads Blocked This Week.

The seriousness of the floods, caused by continued heavy rains, is demonstrated by the situation in Bureau county, south of the Lee county line, as described in the following article in the Bureau County Republican:

The Bureau Creek bottoms, devastated by flood two weeks ago, are again under water with resulting heavy losses to farm crops and transportation systems in the valley. Torrential rains which fell all day Tuesday filled ditches and creek beds and swelled small brooks to raging rivers that broke over their banks and spread out over the lowlands, inundating the country to the southeast of Princeton for miles and miles.

From dawn to midnight Tuesday nearly four inches of rain fell, adding greatly to the flood damage created by the cloud burst that occurred here a week ago Friday.

The Rock Island railroad, just emerging from the demoralization caused by the previous storm, is again tied up by washouts and damaged bridges. On the main line, the tracks are washed out at several points between Tiskilwa and Spring Valley and the Peoria branch was put out of commission early yesterday morning by the destruction of bridges all along the line from Bureau to Peoria.

Highways Washed Out.
High water has completely cut off traffic between Princeton and Bureau over the highways. The Searle Ridge road is impassable on account of the collapse of the Nawa bridge during the last storm and the high water in the creek, making fording out of the question until the flood subsides and the approach to the Weise bridge over Bureau creek on the main Princeton-Bureau road was washed out again Tuesday night. The water is over the road to a depth of 6 to 8 feet in the vicinity of the residence of S. P. Burns near the site of the old McManis mill, making it impossible to take the roundabout road through Tiskilwa.

Canal Bridge Falls.
The wagon bridge over the Hennepin canal at Miller's crossing, southwest of Bureau, weakened by the previous flood, collapsed yesterday morning at 9 o'clock shutting off traffic to Putnam, Henry and Peoria over the Ivy Way. Between Henry and Sparland the flood washed out six bridges on the state road and a mile south of Henry the water yesterday morning was standing seven feet deep on the hard road.

A report at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon from Putnam stated that south of that village the water had risen four feet on the hard road in half an hour and fears were entertained that large sections of the highway would be washed away by the current.

The Rock Island railroad bridge over the Hennepin canal, east of Lock 3, was in peril late yesterday afternoon. Bureau creek, bursting through the canal bank and appropriating the ditch for a channel for its overflow water, sent a terrific current into the ordinarily peaceful canal and its swirling waters undermined first the north abutment of the wagon bridge and then the piers of the railroad bridge.

The wagon bridge fell into the swollen stream yesterday morning and late yesterday afternoon it was feared the railroad bridge would meet the same fate. The Rock Island bridge over the Bureau Creek, near the site of the old Red Mill, is also said to be in imminent danger of being carried away by the flood. At 4 o'clock yesterday the water was within a foot of the rails and the east pier had settled in two places. Another bridge in the vicinity of Putnam was reported on the verge of collapse from the action of the flood.

Interurban Swamped.
The interurban line is hopelessly swamped. Gangs that were started Monday to repair the damage to right-of-way and bridges resulting from the previous storm, were forced to quit by Tuesday's rains and new gaps have been opened in the road bed by the torrents which poured down from the adjacent hills all the way from Princeton to Spring Valley.

The report was given out Monday that repairs would be sufficiently advanced to permit a resumption of train service to Princeton inside another week by transferring passengers at Hicks Junction, but now there is no telling when the cars will be running again. Slides have occurred between Spring Valley and Marquette and the water is running over the roadbed at points near Howe Station, Bureau and Shaffer's crossings. There is a strong possibility that the bridges over Bureau creek at Lock 4 have been seriously weakened by the torrent.

Fair Association Has Purchased More Land

Oregon, Ill.—During the past week the Ogle Co. Fair Association has been able to purchase of the J. H. Cartwright Estate a tract of land adjoining the grounds on the north of 3 1/3 acres, which increases the boundary by ten rods, and will afford opportunity for rearrangement of the horse barns at some future date, thus largely increasing the parking space for automobiles. The association is yet cramped for room, but this recent purchase will ease up considerably as soon as they are in a position to rearrange their buildings. The great need now to assure the success of the fair is favorable weather the next three weeks.

Mineral Farms Submerged.

Over in the Mineral Marsh district adjacent to the village of Mineral, 4,000 acres of land are submerged by the flood. The water is standing 8 to 10 feet deep.

The water from the drainage district has backed up to the outskirts of the corporation. S. D. Ely prominent Mineral business man, said yesterday that the water is now at the highest stage it has been in that vicinity in 43 years. Nearly five and a half inches of rain have fallen there in two days. The water is clear up over the top of the drainage district Arnould's.

leaves, which have broken in several places and what were cornfields and meadows are now an amphibious waste.

Thrashing all over the county is practically at a standstill on account of Tuesday's storm. A continuation of the wet weather that has prevailed for the last two weeks will mean a loss of thousands of dollars to Bureau County farmers, some of whom will suffer a complete loss of their wheat and oats crops. J. B. Haberkorn, county farm adviser, reported yesterday.

Rule for Tenant Farmers.

Some of the grain has been cut for more than a month. Threshers in some of the runs centering about Princeton report that the wheat is beginning to sprout and the oats that have been lying in the field awaiting the threshers is beginning to heat and swell. The corn in some sections has been drowned out, particularly in the lowlands around Bureau, Mineral, Manlius and New Bedford. The results of the recent storms it is feared will about wipe out the profits of some of the tenant farmers who face a gloomy prospect at the harvest time of what promised to be a banner year.

"Could Marzak fill that place?" he asked. "Could that beardless boy lead men as Sakr-el-Bahr leads them, or wield the scimitar against the foes of Islam and increase as Sakr-el-Bahr increases the glory of the Prophet's Holy law upon its beardlessness."

"If Sakr-el-Bahr does this, he does it by thy favor, O my lord," he said. "Thou hast heard, Marzak?" he said. "Sakr-el-Bahr is returned."

"Victoriously, I hope," the lad lied glibly.

"Victorious beyond aught that was ever known," replied Tsamanni.

"He sailed at sunset into the harbor, his company aboard two mighty Frankish ships, which are but the lesser part of the great spoils he brings."

"Allah is great," was the Basha's glad welcome of this answer to those insidious promptings of his Sicilian wife. "Why does he not come in person with his news?"

"His duty keeps him yet awhile aboard, my lord," replied the wazier. "But he hath sent his kaya Othmani here to tell the tale of it."

"Thrice welcome be thou, Othmani."

He beat his hands together, whereas slaves placed cushions for him upon the ground. He sat, and beckoned Marzak to his side.

"And now thy tale."

And Othmani standing forth related how they had voyaged to distant England in the ship that Sakr-el-Bahr had captured, through seas that no corsair yet had ever crossed, and how on their return they had engaged a Dutchman that was their superior in strength and numbers; how none the less Sakr-el-Bahr had wrested victory by the help of Allah, his protector, how he had been dealt a wound that must have slain any but one miraculously preserved for the greater glory of Islam, and of the surpassing wealth of the booty which at dawn tomorrow should be laid at Asad's feet for his division of it.

Asad moved on in silence. That erstwhile habit of Sakr-el-Bahr's was one not easy to condone. It had occasioned him his moments of uneasiness, and more than once had he taxed his Lieutenant with the practice ever to receive the same answer, the answer which he now made to Fenzileh.

"For every slave that he so manumitted, he brought a dozen into bondage."

"Perforce, else would he be called to account. 'Twas so much dust he flung into the face of true Moslems. Those manumissions prove a lingering fondness for the infidel country whence he springs. Is there room for that in the heart of a true member of the Prophet's Immortal House? Hast ever known me languish for the Sicilian shore from which in thy might thou wrested me, or have I ever been sought of thee the life of a single Sicilian infidel in all these years that I have lived to serve thee? Such longings are betrayed, I say, by such a practice, and such longings could have no place in one who had uprooted infidelity from his heart."

"And now this voyage of his beyond the seas—risking a vessel that he captured from the arch-enemy of Islam, which is not his to risk but thine in whose name he captured it; and together with it he imperils the lives of two hundred True Believers. To what end? To bear him overseas, perchance that he may look again upon the unhabited land that gave him birth. So Blaskeine reported. And what if he should founder on the way?"

"Thou at least wouldest be content, thou fount of malice," growled Asad.

"Call me harsh names, O sun that warms me! Am I not thine to use and abuse at thy sweet pleasure? Pour salt upon the heart thou wouldest; since it is thy hand I'll never murmur a complaint. But heed me—heed my words; or since words are of no account with thee, then heed his deeds which I am drawing to thy tardy notice. Heed them, I say, as my love bids me; even though thou shouldst give me to be whipped or slain for my temerity."

"Woman, thy tongue is like the clapper of a bell with the devil swinging from the rope. What else dost thou impute?"

"Naught else, since thou dost but mock me, withdrawing thy love from thy fond slave."

"The praise to Allah, then," said he. "Come, it is the hour of prayer!"

"But he praised Allah too soon. Womanlike, though she protested she had done, she had scarce begun as yet."

"There is thy son, O father of Marzak."

The Well-Dressed Man
By BEAUNASH
comes Clothe To Meet The Obligation Of Every Occasion

Clothes to Beat the Heat

Now and then, some Job's Comforter up and remarks that heat, like Santa Claus, is all in your mind. Think of Alaska, glaciers, snow-capped mountain peaks or of inheriting a cool million from some half-forgotten Uncle Obadiah and, according to this simple principle of "Whatever is, ain't"; the heat—presto!—is dissolved and you go about your work-a-day tasks bathed in breezes. Now, there is just enough seed of truth in this theory to make it worth while putting into practice.

Light colors and thin fabrics, by auto-suggestion, mental illusion or self-hypnosis, induce a sense of well-being upon the part of the wearer. Knowing that he is dressed as cool as can be, he feels that way. Contrariwise, the man who is swathed in heavy, heating clothes is continually oppressed by the thought of them and carries a burden alike upon his back and mind.

Mohair, composed of the Angora goat, is a light, smooth, glossy, crisply cool material that is on the gain for wear in the thick of Summer. Well tailored, it retains its lines acceptably and may be readily pressed into shape. It comes in light, medium-shade or dark colors and in plain, striped or more elaborately patterned effects. One of these suits is pictured in the accompanying sketch. It is the three button model with patch pockets, side and breast, the top button being left unfastened for its "carefully careless" look. Such a suit is admirable for sultry weather and it belongs in every well-rounded wardrobe.

Then, there are suits of linen; of wool crash or linen crash; of porous, air-open cloths; of silk and its intermixtures and of various special mesh weave designs to allow a cooling current of air to percolate through the material. All these, according to their adaptability to the purpose and the wearer, will be found cool and comfortable. In woolens, the tropical worsteds, homespuns, hopsackings and the like are tiptop for the heated term. The point to keep in mind is that a Summer suit is a Summer suit and should be expressly and exclusively selected for that use; then laid aside when comes Autumn.

FRANK FARRINGTON AGAIN CANDIDATE MINE UNION HEAD

Will Be Opposed By Sen. Sneed of Herrin for President.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 21—Frank Farrington, president of the Illinois Mine Workers today announced he would run for re-election again. There had been some doubt regarding his candidacy due to the fact that the last convention of the mine workers, wrested from him the power to appoint his staff of assistants. Previously it had been his practice to announce his candidacy in convention.

The miner's election will be held in December. Mr. Farrington has been president of the state miners for ten years. Chief among those who appear as probable contenders for his place, is Senator William J. Sneed of Herrin, who is now a sub-district president. He was the only labor member in the last state senate.

Feels Deep Obligation.

"In making my announcement," President Farrington said, "I am moved by a feeling of deep obligation to the Illinois Mine Workers. Nearly eighteen years ago, you took me out of the mines and enlisted me in the service of our union. As a result of the training received, I have offers to serve in other places, but I have rejected them because I feel it is not my privilege to leave your service when it may suit my convenience and that I would be guilty of base ingratitude to you if I should do so, before you have said by your votes, you no longer desire my services."

"I make no promise as to what I shall do if reelected, other than to say that in the future at the past I shall serve you as faithfully as I know how and that then as always, I shall strive with every means at hand to promote and to protect your interests that may be and that I shall diligently apply myself to solution of the problems confronting our union, which are becoming more complex and difficult of solution."

Sees Mysterious Enemy.

"Even now an enemy is working against you so stealthily that his presence is not known to you, but whose attack will be fatal to your future if not defeated and overcome. It is going to tax the skill of the best trained among us to defeat this enemy. But that is a story I shall tell in full another time."

Mr. Farrington refused to describe

most efficient unit of organized labor in the world."

"In submitting my candidacy to you," Farrington's announcement concludes, "I stand on a record already made."

An Appreciation of Red Crown

The High-Grade Gasoline

THERE'S just one way you can know the vast difference between Red Crown and other gasolines. That is by asking Red Crown to get you out of difficulties. It does it every time.

Here's one man's experience:

"Red Crown had been my engine fuel for many years—long tried, well tested, and entirely satisfactory—

"But, in a foolish moment, YOU KNOW, on the advice of a (so-called high-test) gasoline salesman, I changed my brand, and for several months used other kinds of gasoline with various unsettling results, as: Short mileage, with more frequent filling of my gas tank; hard to start after the lighter elements were used out of my tank; lack of power on a hill, with always in low as I climbed; and, to top my difficulties, one day I ran out of 'gas' on the hill.

"Then I was cured. I had always carried a gallon of Red Crown under the seat, and I put it in the tank and climbed the hill on high gear for the first time in months. Red Crown for me from now on."

Furthermore, Red Crown takes a hint with a haste that will delight you. It has the right attitude toward its job—peppy, active, ready to anticipate your desires, and always dependable.

Forestall trouble. Put Red Crown in your tank now—and laugh at sand, grades and mud!

Cheer and Boo When French Premier is Giving Dawes Report

Paris, Aug. 21.—(By the Associated Press)—Premier Herrlott put the Dawes reparation plan and the London agreement for making it effective before the chamber of deputies this afternoon and told the members: "I, for my part have chosen, but nothing final had been done and parliament, in its turn can choose."

Evacuation of the Ruhr, the premier said, had dominated everything at the international conference in London and he had "to choose between the re-establishment of an internal intent and the continuance of isolated action."

M. Herrlott emphasized that arbitration was the great principle established at the London conference and asserted France would gain by it, for it would need deal of optimism that believes that France, in the future, could gain the majority of votes which enabled her to enter the Ruhr.

France's new freedom of action, M. Herrlott said, had been defended to the utmost in London, but the situation had become grave. Then Prime Minister Macdonald of Great Britain in two letters had reminded the French and Belgians of the declaration in two letters had reminded the French and Belgians of the declaration which enabled her to enter the Ruhr. The reparation problem in which France was the most interested party had not been taken from the political into the economic field, the premier continued, and "we have given a very large role to American citizens in our organization, which was done designedly."

Glad America Joins.

"We can only rejoice," M. Herrlott continued, "to have associated with us the great American republic which has witnessed our sufferings and which has all the authority necessary to supervise the execution of the program which was due in a large part to its initiative."

Paris, Aug. 21.—Premier Herrlott was enthusiastically acclaimed by his supporters and booted by the communists and deputies of the extreme right for five minutes when he faced the chamber shortly after 5 o'clock this afternoon and began reading his hour-long declaration on the results achieved at the international conference in London for launching the Dawes reparation program.

At the Burns home eighteen to twenty cans of fruit were stolen, three chickens and some other things. When discovered the gypsies are said to have had a chest filled with tools worth in the neighborhood of $300 half way out the door.

Before the police could be notified the gypsies had made their getaway and could not be located.
